

Carlos Augusto Costa is a project manager at FGV Europe, the international project and advisory unit of the Brazilian think tank Fundação Getulio Vargas. He is also the coordinator of the neuromarketing laboratory at FGV Projetos. In 2016, Carlos was a mayor candidate for the green party (Partido Verde) in the Brazilian city of Recife. With a diverse background in urban development, strategic planning, neuromarketing and communications, he has worked for the Brazilian micro and small business support service (Sebrae), São Francisco hydroelectric company (CHESF) and Promon Engenharia S.A. He also served as the president of the planning institute of the Brazilian state of Pernambuco. Carlos graduated as an electronic engineer from the federal university of Rio de Janeiro.