International Hydrogen Conference

“The Hydrogen Economy – A Sustainable Energy Diversification Option for the Caribbean”

November 3-4, 2015

University of Technology, Jamaica

Call for Papers Extended Deadline

In August 2012 the University of Technology, Jamaica (UTech) began research on the sustainable production of hydrogen as a fuel for domestic cooking along with partners, Brunel University (UK), University of the West Indies, Bureau of Standards Jamaica and the Ministry of Science, Technology Energy and Mining. The research project is co-funded by the European Union under the ACP Caribbean & Pacific Research Programme for Sustainable Development.

The International Hydrogen Conference which is the first of its kind being held in the Caribbean will share the results of the project. The Conference will also highlight the global trends with respect to hydrogen as a key enabling pathway for renewable energy applications. The use of hydrogen whether for cooking at the household or commercial level; clean transportation fuel or utility scale applications such as power to gas are options which the Caribbean region needs to further examine.

Papers are invited under the following thematic areas:

- Hydrogen from Renewable Sources
- Environmental Issues and Climate Change
- Education and Public Awareness for Using Hydrogen as Fuel
- Future of Hydrogen Technology
- Hydrogen Internal Combustion Engine Conversion
- Hydrogen Storage Systems
- Hydrogen Production: Viability of Clean Hydrogen
- Financing Hydrogen Technologies
- Fuel Cells
- Safety and Regulations for the Use of Hydrogen
- Policies on Hydrogen Use
- Hydrogen as a Transportation Fuel
